Comments or suggestions on how to improve communications .

Given the large numbers and growth of the club, I think the board is doing a great job. Im new to Pickleball and feel I have a fresh perspective. The modules were so well executed. And everyone is helpful and friendly!! I have a technical background and have a background in website, e-marketing and social media. I set up Group Works for Fabs a couple of months ago. If your club needs any help or assistance in this area, I would love to help! Cathy Shanley
Does the club encourage players to be IPTPA rated? If so, what is the incentive to do so, other than their own personal use? It would be nice to have Round Robin/Ladders for those who have made the effort to do so.
The Club used to have several general Club meetings every year. One in the early fall (mid-late October); one in December; and one in the spring. There has only been ONE general club meeting in the last 12 months and the main/only topic was regarding the bylaw changes. Email blasts are nice but the Club needs to have more general meetings during the year, so that communications can flow both ways - up instead of always down.
Thank you, John Wollums
Continue to communicate with club email blasts. Transparency and communication is the key.
Please add an "N/A" response to check boxes for not applicable or indifferent.
Need more info on how to get included in women groups that play together at specific levels. This all seems to be done informally and is based on who you know. This needs to change
communication is all good

I have sent a least 4 emails and filled out the survey to be a volunteer on court maintenance and ad of now no one is getting back to me!!!!

Make board members emails available on the pickleball web site

If an in house event is organized, be sure to make it very clear who the contact person is for that specific event and their contact information

PBC does a great job of communicating, organizing, and trying to serve the varying interests of players.
Thank you Board members and the many volunteers.
